

The Daily Telegraph

tuesday, november 11, 2008

inside today »

Red-light Rees

Premier's camera revenue grab: P3

Paternity tests prove hundreds of dads duped

PARENTS' DNA WAR

exclusive

Kelvin Bissett
Investigations Editor

MOTHERS are being forced to pay back as much as $60,000 to men they wrongly claimed fathered their children following a contentious reform of child support laws.

The Daily Telegraph can reveal 18 men, cleared by DNA testing, have made use of changes permitting them to claw back funds paid through the Child Support Agency.

More than 300 men have been cleared by DNA of being fathers. Documents obtained under Freedom of Information show orders for $171,567 to be returned have so far been made against the mothers.

Angry women's groups said last night that it would be the children at the centre of the disputes who

Continued page 4

Showstoppers: Ashley Tisdale, Zac Efron and Vanessa Hudgens in Sydney yesterday
Picture: Cameron Richardson

Fabulously screaming into Sydney

Alice Wasley

THERE may have been only one mop top, but the 21st Century version of Beatlemania descended on Sydney last night with the premiere of High School Musical 3.

More than 1500 screaming tweens hit Sydney's George St cinema precinct as the Fab Three — Zac Efron, Vanessa Hudgens and Ashley Tisdale — strode the red carpet. "It's fantastic ... amazing," Efron said.

Full report sydney confidential